What a busy and productive week of learning it has been across the school!

Year 2 have been working hard preparing for their class assembly next week, and we are very much looking forward to welcoming parents and carers to attend. As part of their learning this week, Year 2 also met with NatWest for a MoneySense session, which linked perfectly with their maths focus on money and helped bring their learning to life in a very practical way.

Year 1 have recently enjoyed engaging in their Digital Penpal project, building exciting links with a school in New Jersey, USA. Meanwhile, Reception and Tiny Seed had a wonderful time on their trip to Nature School, where they explored, discovered and learned outdoors.

Miss Ingrams visited all of the classrooms this week to look at the children's writing and was delighted by what she saw. The children spoke confidently about the tools they use to support their learning, and it was fantastic to see their high levels of engagement and the clear improvements in sustained writing across the school.

Wishing everyone a lovely weekend,

Miss Ingrams and the Lime Wood Primary team

Reception Expressive Arts & Design & Nature School

Year 1 Computing & Music

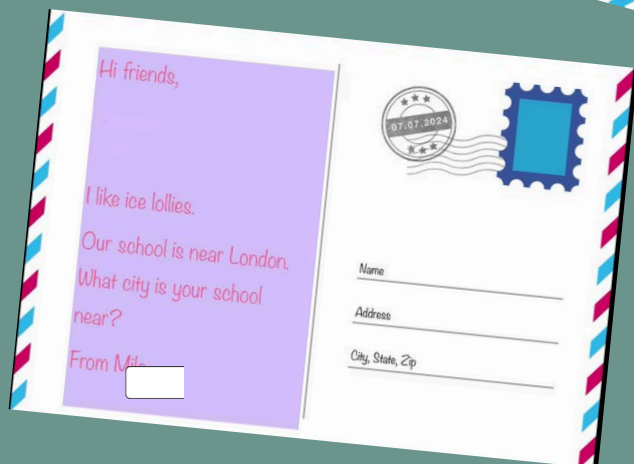

Year 1 became teachers at 'AI School' and taught an AI model 'student' the difference between land and not land transport by showing it pictures. The we tested it with other transport pictures to check if it had learnt from us. We were very proud of our student.

Year 2 Magma Maths & PE

Y1 DIGITAL POSTCARD PROJECT

Year 1 have started their new penpal digital postcard project with a school in New Jersey, USA.

SAFEGUARDING

To help us keep all children safe at the end of the school day, we kindly ask parents and carers to put mobile phones away when collecting children at home time. Being able to clearly see the adult collecting each child is an important part of our safeguarding procedures.

With around 60 children being released in each year group, staff are making their very best endeavours to ensure every child is dismissed safely and to the correct adult. Your support in remaining attentive and visible at collection time makes a real difference and helps us work together to keep all children safe.

Thank you, as always, for your understanding and continued cooperation.

Understanding and Supporting PDA Presentations in Autistic Children

Pathological Demand Avoidance (PDA) presentations are characterised and underpinned by extreme anxiety linked to a perceived loss of control, which often leads to avoidance of everyday demands.

This behaviour can be misinterpreted as deliberate defiance, but in reality, it stems from high anxiety and an intense need for autonomy. Children and young people with a PDA profile may use strategies such as negotiation, distraction, or withdrawal rather than traditional compliance, to avoid the situations that are causing them anxiety.

Supporting children and young people with severe demand avoidance or a PDA profile requires a collaborative, and child-led approach, based around an understanding of anxiety, the impact of every day demands and how to manage these supportively.

This workshop will provide insight into the complex experience of autism and PDA presentations and provide you with practical strategies to support your child or young person with greater understanding.

The session will be led by an Educational Psychologist from Bexley.
